LAW FIRMS: ENVIRONMENTAL

Jennings Haug Cunningham is a business law and litigation firm serving a diverse clientele of businesses and individuals throughout Arizona. Offering a wide range of services, the lawyers at Jennings Haug Cunningham represent locally owned businesses, individuals and large corporations with interests in Arizona. The firm's environmental law attorneys combine years of experience with a practical working knowledge of environmental regulations, to provide legal services that span the full spectrum of environmental issues, from basic contracts and permits to complex site cleanups and multi-party litigation.

STRENGTH OF STAFF: "Our attorneys value their dual role as legal advocates and counselors. We help clients reach solutions that meet legal requirements and business goals."

IMPACT OF 2018 TRENDS: "Above all, our clients value clear and predictable legal requirements, and resolutions that are final and permanent. Environmental requirements that follow political winds are unpredictable and can disrupt longer-term business plans. Additionally, environmental agencies that lack resources to issue permits and make decisions in a timely manner can make resolutions slower and more expensive."
